And Thus We Grow Edie

GROWTH signifies many things: progress, maturity, development. We may easily lose interest in things that have stopped growing, but we gain a sense of exhilaration in watching the growth of plants, people, and even schools such as our new Central High. In its two years Central has changed from the not-quite-finished stage to a school unified in the things that count: pride, purpose, and constant endeavor.

Pressed by problems of overcrowding that threatened havoc to schedules, facilities, and efficiency, Central emerged triumphant. Scholarship levels zoomed; opportunities beckoned to both gifted and average students. All applauded Central's transition from rough beginning to smooth accomplishment.

Central has grown in spirit, from a beginning devoid of school loyalty. In this second year, indifference has evolved into deep pride in athletic teams, student activities, faculty, and administration. We are no longer a mass of students from many schools. We are Centralians.

The year 1958-59 was very important in the history of Central High School. It was a hectic year of trial and error; it was a wonderful year of progress. It was the year during which our high school grew up.

*It has been nice having you
in my English class.
Best of luck

As We Grow, So Do Problems

Before Central High School could talk about its growing, there had to be a beginning. For years CHS was just an idea in the minds of a group of very interested citizens who served as the Board of Education. The idea became reality in 1957, and Central High was born.

Now in its second year Central realizes the need for and importance of planning for future growth. That's a prime function of the board, our principal, and our superintendent.

The vast system of education which includes the Phoenix Union High Schools and Phoenix College offers a challenge to the vision and wisdom of its wise and capable administrators.

With new thousands coming each year to our Valley the need for school expansion and finance becomes towering. The board has planned to meet the challenge with efficiency and foresight. We can count on their wisdom and courage. It is thus that we grow!

Salt River Valley has just started to expand, many economic experts have stated. Some day Phoenix will be a great city extending from Peoria to the west through Chandler to the east and south. The "dream" is fast becoming reality, and the plans to provide schooling must be formulated while there is time. It is to their lasting credit that our school board members meet such problems with great personal sacrifice of their time and energy.

GOOD REPORT: Supt. Bruce K. Moore and Principal James S. Carter enjoy the excellent rating Central High was given by the NCA board of evaluation.

Big Problems Were Solved

PROBLEMS, problems! Confronted by the threat of double sessions, Assistant Principal William Gates came up with a triple-session idea that kept us into one student body. Here he worries a class schedule problem into a workable plan . . . just to make everybody concerned face life much happier.

No matter what the problem, there's a better way to solve it! That remains the philosophy of Assistant Principal Gates upon whose shoulders has rested the complexity known as the Class Schedule at Central High. When it became apparent that we'd have three students for every available seat at regular class times, Mr. Gates got in a supply of aspirin tablets and went to work. Such age-old puzzlers as how to fit a square plug in a round hole or how far is up were child's play, compared to Central's multiplicity of those growing pains.

Well, we licked the problem with 7 a.m. to 4 p.m. schedules, triple lunches, and the like.

Right with Mr. Gates in keeping our bulging student body happy though crowded were Messrs. Pitts and Ball and our vivacious Dean Risley. Every student got a fair hearing when he transgressed; the timid were encouraged to take part in student activities; the bold were encouraged to help others participate. Yes, we were a big student body in a small school, but we learned to respect the rules and to become good citizens, thanks to our patient advisers.

ALWAYS ON THE ALERT for progressive ideas are Vice Principal Wayne Pitts, Dean Lucille Risley, and Boys' Adviser William A. Ball.

GREETINGS! This slice of holiday cheer was captured by Gailys Wilke, A.V. assistant, preparing for the annual Yuletide Party. The decorations were delightful, the refreshments superb!

pal's Office, Marika Fitzgerald, Guidance, and Beth Pretzer, PBX receptionist, at their annual Yuletide Party. The decorations were delightful, the refreshments superb!

How About A Merit Award!

Service beyond the call of duty . . . That's the commendation which usually accompanies an Award of Merit. But few students think about the hundreds of extra services rendered by Classified Personnel. A teacher calls from his home to tell Mrs. Pretzer he'd forgotten to turn off a machine in the lab and would she get someone to do it; a parent calls, asking that her Willie be given an urgent message; a club adviser wants some advice; a teacher is locked out of her room; why can't I graduate with less than the required credits . . . and so on.

Behind the smoothly running machinery of a large school is the dedicated service of many wonderful people. You'll find them in the Principal's Office, Dean's Office, Registrar's Office, at the Health Center, Bookstore, Cafeteria, and Warehouse. You'll see them on the grounds, patiently gathering trash we've thoughtlessly thrown there, at the parking lots at the crossings. We owe them our deepest gratitude for their countless kindnesses.

PLUGGING away at the busy switchboard is Mrs. Pretzer while Mrs. Sheen prepares to sort mail for the teachers.

WITH ALL TRIMMIN'S! Yuletide found the Registrar's Office ready with season's smiles included. Here at Watts, Helen Thomas, William Gates, Dorothy [unclear], and Pat Robbin decorating the evergreen.

By now every Centralite believes in Santa Claus! Or you would think so, if you could hear some of their requests at the Registrar's Office. No schedule is too tight or involved to keep them from writing their own ticket, that is, until some patient R.O. clerk explain

Final authority is Mr. Gates, assistant principal, who deserves a better fate than he's suffered since overcrowded Central opened. Trips, sessions, doubled-up classrooms, staggering schedules all have contributed to his worries. He and his staff can put Ol' Santa to

There's A Santa!

BOOKS! BOOKS! They come and they go, at the Bookstore, but Manager Harold Everitt and his assistant, Norma Thorneycroft, never lose their smiles. Tickets, student activities, and stationery sales keep customers coming into Mr. Everitt's general store.

LEADERS in student government were Bill Lenertz, student body president, Lynda Morris, secretary-treasurer; Bob Smelick, vice president. The latter will be 1959-60 president.

Democracy Goes To Work

Ours is a working democracy at Central High. Government by, for, and of the students is no idle phrase, we are learning the principles of democracy in the best possible way, by practice. In co-operation with the Guidance Board our student body officers work to see that fair play, understanding, and progress become integral parts of our student government.

When a student is cited for breaking a campus rule, he appears before the board to be judged without prejudice. The Guidance Board meets regularly to help students and to revise and evaluate any proposed student body legislation. Through these representatives every student can voice his opinion and work for better government at Central High School.

Good Government Their Goal

At the sound of the fifth hour bell on alternate Wednesdays, some 48 student leaders gather at a Student Senate meeting. Composed of representatives from every class, this group legislates, considers student body problems and projects, and in general expresses the desires of the entire student body. Representatives also include class presidents, the standing committee chairman, Guidance Board members, student body officers, and a faculty sponsor. Their objective is better government

One of the numerous successful projects the Student Senate Spearheaded was a campus clean-up campaign, with every Centralite expected to co-operate. Another was a magazine drive, with some of the money going into the Foreign Exchange Fund and some to the student body fund. It was the Student Senate that re-named the school annual the Centralian to replace the earlier Cat Tracks, and the delegates chose Central Echoes as the student newspaper masthead. The future looked great

Friendly Rivals, Mutual Aims

"A woman's world? Cool it, man! We've got the situation under control." Perhaps their boast is like a small boy whistling in the dark, but the Boys' Alliance does a good job of asserting the male's prerogative — flexing the muscles and initiating a number of peppy projects. A top social event was their Stardust Ball, complete with queen. They executed several money-making schemes with success while contributing worthy service to the school.

Girls' League makes an exclusive claim: every girl in school belongs to this "club"! That is more than an idle boast too, since projects, plans, and meetings are all designed to include every interested girl on campus. New girls are made to feel at home by the Gl Bobcat Buddies, and every potential leader can participate in league projects. Highlight of the social year was the League's April in Paris formal. It lived up to every fond expectation.

Toddlers' Guides

Toddler known as Central High Student Leaders and has a very loving parent—the PTA. As we grow in student government and good citizenship we receive every kind of help from parents and teachers. They help us keep good scholastic standards by creating a bond between school and home. Their paper discussion with interesting subjects from friends, family relations, make for better understanding. We benefit from parent-teacher conferences—even though we tremble a little at the thought of our parents knowing how we act when away from them!

Every child needs a parent as guide in the growing period. That 2-year

Talented Trio —Music Magic

WE'RE READY, what if you have? That musical trio from Building Eight are waiting for our requests. Music Department Chairman Harvey Zorn directs the Concert Band. Will Hergt, Concert Orchestra, and Kathleen Hergt, several choral groups.

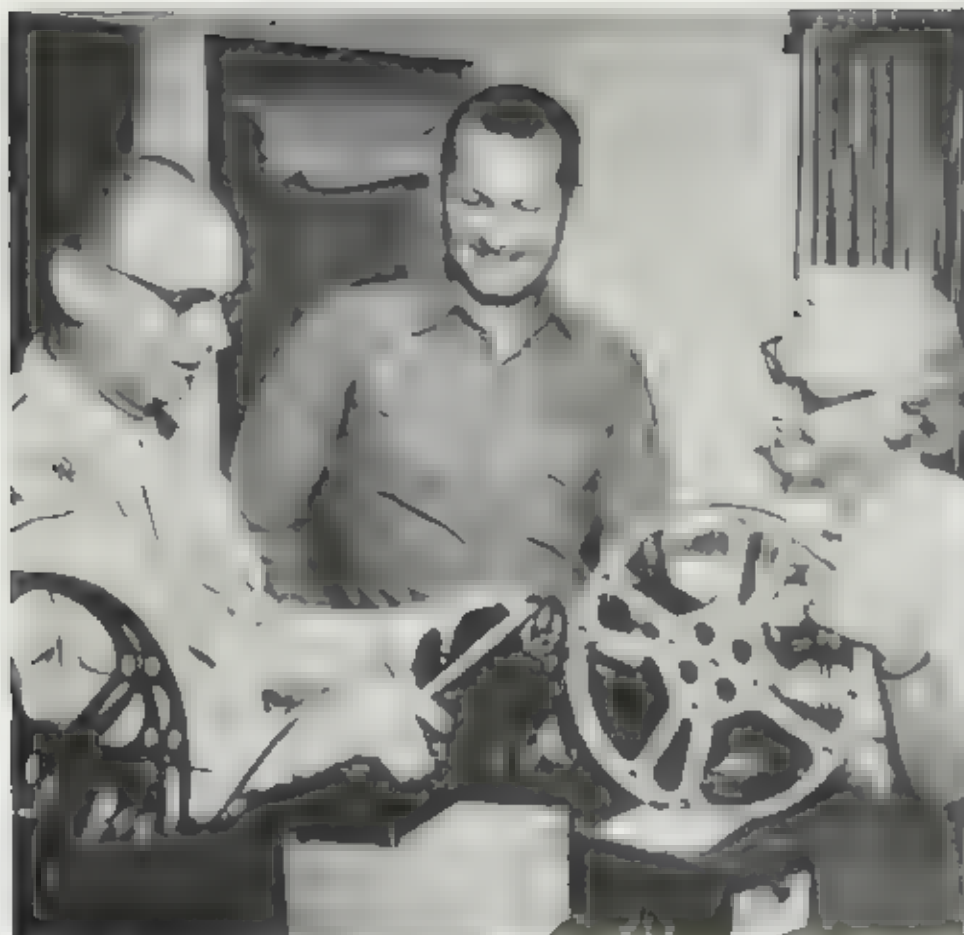

Even in a school system where musical talent and ability are excellent, no back seat is taken by Central High School's Music Department. The three highly qualified teachers of the department might just be one reason. Harvey Zorn revolutionized high school band methods when he first came to the PUHS system, beginning at Phoenix Union. Snap, precision, and sparkle came from the revitalized student bands. He has brought to Central High that same excellence in method.

Madrigal singing was first introduced to Salt River Valley by Kathleen Hergt, who has formed three outstanding choral groups at Central. An excellent concert orchestra professional, William Bagwel, has built up keen interest in orchestra. This man plays almost any instrument well, piano, violin, flute. Central High will be the state's outstanding school for music in the near, near future. Student talent and inspired teachers are a combination to reckon with. It is a sure success formula!

TEMPTATION! How do you, Phoenix Union manager, can't make a quick choice of the delicious desserts offered by Betty Robbins, Redewell, and Bob Williams. Harry, if you want some of it.

Just Name It; You'll Get It!

Special Services are many at a large high school such as Central. Not the least of these is Audio-Visual Aids. Many who can't get anything but sleepy from reading a history book will learn lasting lessons from a well presented sound film on the same material. Any teacher may request and receive expert aid in the A-V field, with Director Felton sending his teams of operators to set up and operate the machines. They're efficient, too!

Whether it is agriculture, art, or an aching tooth that most interests the Central student at a given time, he can find help. There are specialists in many fields to lead those who would learn. Parking lots and business blocks have played havoc with Salt River Valley's farm land, but many students still hope to become farmers or cattlemen, and Mr. Pistor offers them pertinent information. Others fascinated by art, are instructed here by skilled artists.

OF COURSE! Planning a comprehensive English program are (seated) George Motter, Zeno M. Johnson, Marjorie French, Vergil Lewis, Chris Carnahan, (standing) Lu Boyle

Lucile DeWitt, John Hardaway, Howard Beazley, and Mattie Hackett. The group is preparing for the new four-year required English setup for the fall semester.

Motto: Better Basic English

With a staff of English masters that would do credit to any university, Central High School opened an all-out attack on one of America's most glaring problems—semi-illiteracy. Under the direction of Mr. Howard Beazley, the experts in grammar, composition, and rhetoric developed standards that brought much credit to the two-year-old institution. Emphasis was on increased quality in reading and writing.

Journalism courses were introduced this year, with classes both in newspaper and year book production. Meeting the challenge of high costs in printing by limiting newspapers to three ad-packed issues, students learned news methods in practice as well as theory. Centralites also participated actively in work on the annual while studying journalism. Drama and public speaking also enjoyed a big year.

SPECIALISTS in the English and dramatics field are these three, looking over prints for the '59 Centurian: Scott G. Nelson, annual; Donald Krishak, drama and public speaking; and Marjorie Mertens, student newspaper.

Diplomacy: Keynote To Peace

Tolerance will lead to world understanding. But to teach tolerance, the teacher should be well grounded in principles of good citizenship. Our teachers of the social sciences eminently qualify. Long experience in democracy and world government study has won this faculty the thanks and admiration of their students. Education will yet prove to be the weapon that outlaws war. Here we must base the campaign for world-wide fellowship.

Their personal acquaintance with the people and countries whose language they teach at Central is indicative of the excellence of our Foreign Language Department. More important than the pronunciation of foreign terms is an awareness of the foreigners themselves. These teachers have lived abroad, traveled, studied, and learned to appreciate the natives whose friendship can mean so much to all of us. Such excellent teachers are outstanding.

WHAT'S NEW across the world? Foreigners find out by reading European magazines at a department. SEATED are:

Learn Methods, Then Practice

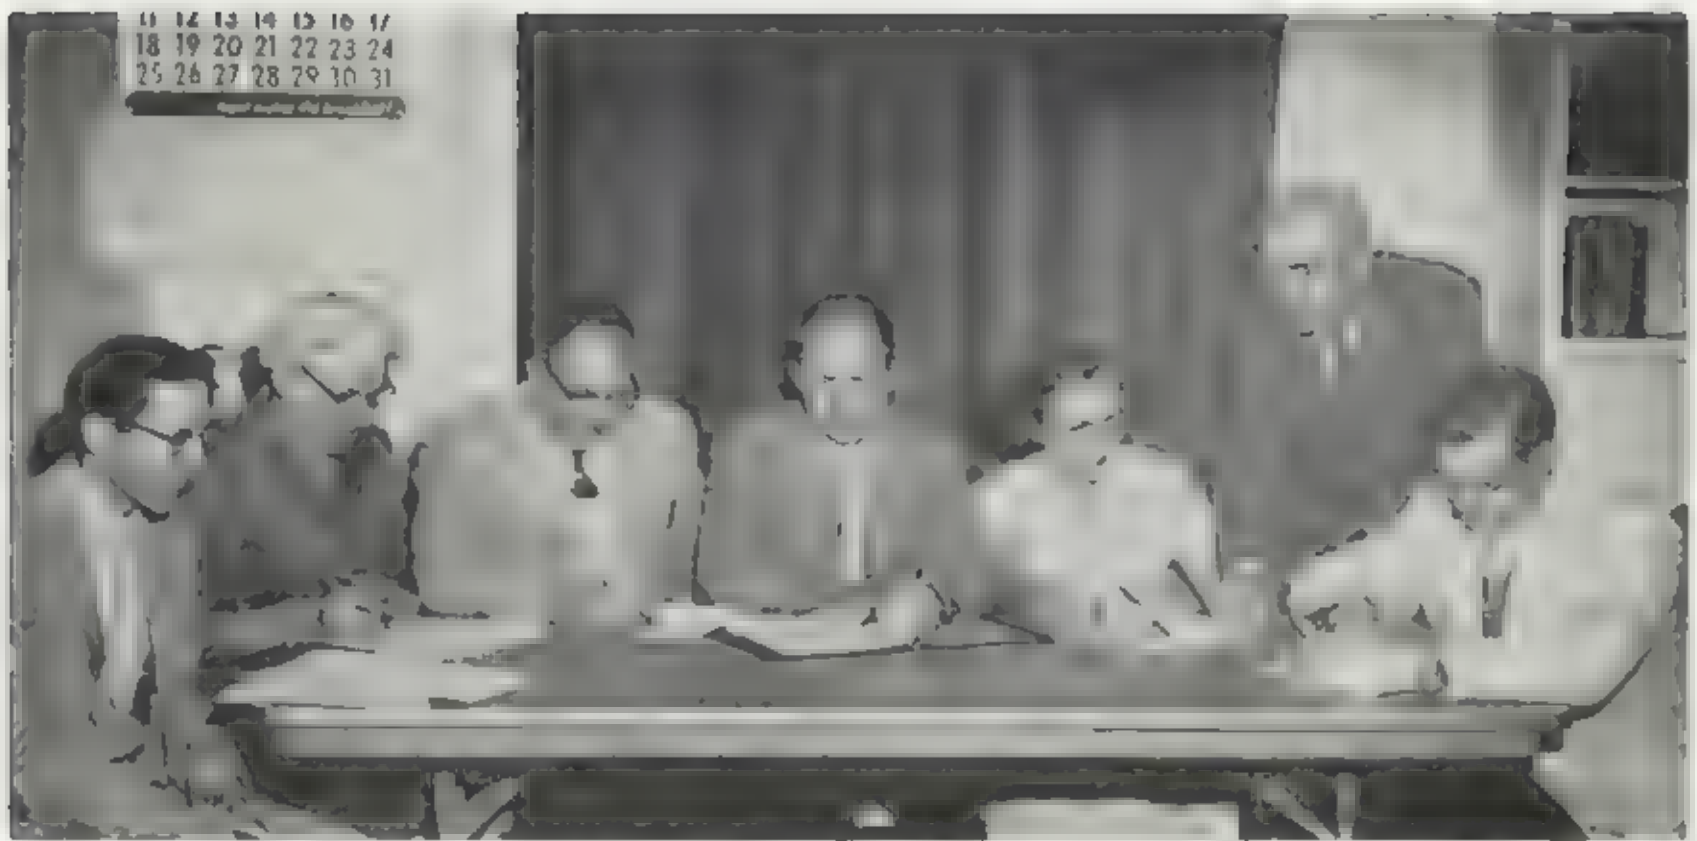

Practice may not make perfect, but it really helps . . . especially when you get the right training! Central's Industrial Arts Department may be small and the area of study limited, but the quality of instruction is without question the best. Department Chairman Crockett, expert printer, photographer, writer, and teacher, has a wealth of experience; Mr. Shehane is a leader in electronics, a colonel in the U.S. Army intelligence, and an enthusiastic radio expert; Mr. Garcia is a skilled auto mechanic.

There is no substitute for experience in any field, but especially important is it in Home Making where the beginner can go in so many wrong directions before she hits the right one! Mrs. Christian and Mrs. Kennedy have the necessary know-how and background to save novice housekeepers many a headache. They don't worry too much about teaching students to cook and sew the way "mother used to"; they'd rather teach the ways to improve on the old methods in modern terms.

GOOD READING Librarian Leta A. Weaver, her assistant, Lillian Campbell, and Lillian Martin. You can find the book you need at the back of the library.

RIGHT: Good cooks and housekeepers will learn much from these experts in the domestic sciences. They're Margaret Christian and Bernice Kennedy.

Hoetzie, Norman Hinkel, Hugh H. Hackett, Jeanette Lindsay, Chairman Harry Phillips, and Kenneth Ridenour.

It's A Space Age Challenge

That figures . . . ! Knowing the correct answers to modern day puzzles will lead inevitable to more problems requiring correct answers. But that is what is so fascinating about the exact sciences, declare our Central High math teachers. Patience, tolerance, and a keen understanding of their subject make Chairman Phillips and his mathematics instructors ideal guides for one of America's greatest immediately needs — well informed students.

Science goes hand in hand with mathematics in today's Atomic Age. The old must give way to the new, every day something crops up to make obsolete yesterday's theory on something scientific. Mr. Ewart and his youthful, enthusiastic teachers of physics, botany, biology, and chemistry are well prepared to meet the challenge that space adventuring, the Atom and the needs of an expanding world offers to youth. Young America will respond.

SCIENCE of the times interests Jo Ann Davy, Edward M. Gurr, John Ewart, Arnold Beret, Elton R. Tietz, and Ann Hill Johnson. They're busy here with gadgets in the room of Chairman Ewart.

Physical Educators

ALL ON THE BALL! That's our Girls PE Dept. Having fun here are Instructors Mary Ellen Harden, Joyce Sanders, Mary Anne Brannigan, and Harriet Mitten.

Keep 'em busy; keep 'em interested! That might be a good motto for what the Physical Education Department does anyway with the 1500 or so students who come under their supervision. Convinced that good sportsmanship can be taught only by participation in the sports, these well-trained teachers see that every Centralite has a go at what most interests him or in what seems to be his best field. Then they bring out the best that's in him!

Years of study plus high school and college sports activity have given the P.E. instructors an insight to the real need. It is possible, you know, for a student to be "underprivileged" and still come from a wealthy home. The years of hampering selfish interests, and lack of opportunity to compete on even terms can work a hinderance. At school one's bank account can't buy a place on the team. You must earn the coveted position, really earn it!

BUSY SCHEDULE for next year interests the coaches. Surrounding Head Coach Martin are...

...Pineford, Robert P. Ruman, and... L. Amster. Good sportsmanship is the aim of this group.

COUNSELORS in conference include Calvin Schenkel, Vera Swanger, John Kendall, Paul Hatch, Mabel Blair,

Mr. [illegible] and Eleanor Wallingford. This group won [illegible] due to their interest in student problems.

They Can Give Us Business

When problems grow too big, smart Centralites seek expert help. More than likely, the counselor gets the bid. Perhaps the student is in difficulty because of low merit standing, maybe he is failing a subject and would like to rescue the credit somehow; or he might want help in planning his course of study. Whatever the problem, he can be sure of guidance that will smooth the way. Kindness, skill, and sympathetic understanding are typical qualities of the CHS counseling staff.

A businesslike approach to everyday problems is the best road to success; and our Business Education teachers make certain their students read all the signposts. Potential business executives, stenographers, bookkeepers, can learn from the experts at Central. Headed by Mr. John Caceletto, these teachers combine practical experience with the best in business practices. Expert typing ability and good planning will smooth the way especially for college-bound students and young secretaries.

to have been a swimming party but wound up as a dandy bridge, canasta and steak dinner affair. A spring party was also planned. Department parties and occasional tea and cake affairs were highlights, too. Planned for next year are more "relaxers"

When you come to the end of a busy day that's the time to relax. Teachers find time for such a necessary move now and then but not nearly often enough. There were two general parties for the Central High faculty, but one was dampened by rain last fall. It was of the better informed have learned that teachers can be loads of fun. A Faculty Follies was planned but lack of a stage caused the event to be postponed. Perhaps there'll be a teacher funfest for next year . . . stage or no stage!

'59ers Set High Standards

End of the line! Everybody out! As Central's first graduates approached Diploma Day, many pondered, "Well, where do we go from here? Is it the end of the line, really?" Hardly that! Central has prepared these '59ers for better things than "end of the line." They will use their training as a basis for the growth that makes America the world's greatest Land of Opportunity. And Central's first graduating class will continue to grow . . . with America

The Class of '59 had a terrific year: D-J dances, sales of this and that to finance their Senior Day, Class Party, school gift. They loved the Senior Days at PC, U of A, ASU; most decided to enter college in the fall. Central owes much to the Class of '59. They helped build fine traditions, organize worthwhile clubs, support the administration in countless ways. They will be missed, but not forgotten. For they were "first"; they made history.

everything from an old-fashioned corral where dudes were tossed, to a wonderful Sagebrush Hop that night. For the first time, anybody who really wanted to sport a beard could do so ... even the girls! False whiskers were sold by an enterprising girls' club and Central High's campus grew more wild and wooly by the minute.

Rodeo Days were memorable this year. Competition was keener than razor edges for the month before; in less than 10 days you could separate the men from the boys, whisker-wise. But Rodeo Day climaxed the fun with

Already they feel like mighty ... s

Many contend that their junior year in high school is the happiest. They have weathered the storms of the first two years—the strange, lost feeling as freshman and the rugged course, such as algebra and geometry in the sophomore year . . . Now as juniors they have 'made it.' That grown-up feeling is now secure!

Very soon the 11th graders drop the "almost there, but not quite." They'll be at the top of the ladder. They have worked hard to become seniors. Now they can look back with tolerant amusement at the struggles of the frosh and sophs who must overcome the same obstacles in the traditional, and typical cycle.

LOOKING AHEAD to a big year are Sophomore Officers Bill Gold, Barbie Kulik, Bill Johnson, Sharon Messmore.

Ready Cash For Their Prom

With exuberance and initiative the sophomore class showed solid results for their 1958-59 program. Led by President Bill Johnson they set their goals high for a solid bank account while enjoying a number of money making schemes. "We want the money," Bill declared, "for the 1960 Junior-Senior Prom."

The successful financial projects included sales of Data Guides, Easter Eggs, and the like. They flexed their muscles, too, at a car wash and sponsored a zippy Basketball Bounce at the Gym in November. Other officers were Bill Gold, vice president, Sharron Messmore, class secretary, and Barbara Kulick, treasurer.

SOPHOMORE COUNCIL meets to plan a project. SEATED are Bates, Engle, Kulik, Johnson, Messmore, Gold, Austin, Felix. STANDING: Staples, Mr. Hardaway, Sawyer, Lazari, Stryer, Blanchard, Arnhold, Boutell, Miss Hoelzle, Van Heron, Armor. Chief ambition of the 1960 group was to raise money to finance the 1960 Prom.

Good Start Is Half The Battle

Always there is a beginning! Strange faces, sprawling campus, new teachers, crowds, loud voices, mysterious "schedules" — that's the fate of every freshman. But a full year at Central has performed its magic: nobody's a stranger and the loudest yelling at pep rallies comes (you guessed it) from the frosh sector.

Frosh girls don't land in the Pom-Pom line nor do the boys star in football, but the Class of '62 did make the grade in the Honor Roll. With characteristic enthusiasm they have tried out for everything, you'll hear from them next year in sports, drama, music, and the like. Their leadership, determination are showing.

FRESHMEN COUNCIL members include SEATED: Rice, Delnero, Jones, Hunter, McAdam, Erickson, Kestner. STANDING: Biegel, Kaliko, Friedman, Linton, Griffith, Tower, Tuveson, Eginton, Howard, H.

Survey results were gratifying. Central met the rigid evaluation standards with flying colors. Teachers and students can be proud of our school's superior rating.

One way to learn not to sit on a hot stove is to sit on one. But the seat of learning doesn't have to depend on the sense of feeling; many can learn by observation! Students in biology, chemistry, and kindred sciences learn by doing, reading, experimenting. Best remembered are the lessons on which they worked the hardest while becoming most absorbed in the results they themselves have generated.

Got a problem? The solution may seem vague, but it's elementary, Watson! Just go back to basic principles. Algebra, geometry, trig. . . . Well, the answers in there somewhere! Friendly math teachers plus a student's desire to learn have contributed to the success of math at Central. Homework you'll get; but you'll also get an understanding of basic principles as you travel along life's highways.

Americans Promote Initiative

In few fields will the axiom, "you learn by doing" work better than in the practical arts. Whether it is mechanical drawing, auto repair, or radio study, the basic principles can be thoroughly acquired only after one has applied the accepted theory by actual practice.

"You can't beat these American kids for initiative," declares Instructor Shehane. "I've been in the world's far places under many varied conditions, and I've compared . . ." The reason is obvious. Americans acquire knowledge from their earliest years by doing. They tackle anything that ticks, to see how and why. And they'll repair it when it breaks down.

Don't sell the American girls short on initiative. Watch them at work in Home Making! When better cooks, seamstresses, and budget-builders are produced, they'll come right out of the modern day home making classes!

Valuable also are the human relations classes, enrolling both girls and boys. Here are studied many of the problems that might lead to failure in family success. Future happiness is a dividend such courses can almost guarantee, if the lessons are well learned.

The crime rate is dropping. The accident rate is dropping.

Even a moron can drive a car; he might even avoid accidents, but the odds are against it. Intelligent drivers learn more than fundamentals of car operation. They learn the mastery of highway usage, courtesy, consideration for the rights of others. As the number of driver educated students increases, the accident rate will decrease in about that proportion.

Their colorful and imaginative work has decorated the campus during political campaigns and before dances and theatricals. They had a large part in transforming the Gym for a Night In Paris, a Christmas Fantasy, or a Harvest Ball. Here was practical art at work!

Highlight of the art students' year is the Scholastic Arts contest. Our talented students won 28 gold key and certificate awards against state-wide competition. Key winners included Kathi Gates, Judi Landers, Deanna Peterson, Phil Jackson, Rogue Guirey, Eula Susunkewa, Larry Provo, Marcia Endsley, Nancy Hayden, and Bonnie Cook. Others won art certificates

Bobcat Burns Wins Contest

Thus we grow! Central proudly applauded David Burns, 16-year old junior, when he won first prize in the 29th Annual Arizona Oratorical Contest. Morenci and Tucson high schools won second and third in a rivalry involving 740 Arizona orators. His $85 cash prize could be just a start. District and national tests still lay ahead, with their rich promises and glory.

Burns's address was on "Our Constitution, a Living Organism." He asserted, "... in addition to our Bill of Rights, perhaps it should contain a Bill of Responsibilities" involving the nation's moral fiber which rests on many individuals ... who should endeavor to lead a life of high moral tone. "I shall cherish my privilege of franchise ... practice the principles of liberty and equality, remembering that when I abuse them I am mocking all men who sacrificed their lives ... for these principles."

Let's Talk Turkey....!

QUIEN SABE? "Uh, well stutters Bob Kauffman when confronted by the fluency of Nancy Sonner's Spanish. Action took place in Mrs. Moseley's Period 6 Spanish 2 class.

Shall we talk Turkey? With the globe shrinking perceptibly, Americans must face the fact that we must learn others' languages. Most other nations teach English to their students here a selected few undertake to learn Spanish, French, Latin, German. Few indeed are there who study Russian, Italian, Greek or any of the Oriental tongues.

Just as important as the language is the study of foreign customs, traditions, and skills.

Our Foreign Language Department has made a wonderful start in the right direction. At Central there are more students taking a foreign language than there are at schools of double the size. German, disdained at outbreak of World War II, is making a comeback. Also, stronger emphasis is being made on all of the foreign languages. And that is all for the good, declare our teachers and leading students. Of such can world-wide peace come.

Knowledge Is Also Strength

Such basic values as individualism, freedom, and equality were hard to come by, and it took the enterprise and courage of America's founders to establish these as part of our heritage. Oppressed by narrow concepts of liberty in Europe, they dared the wilderness in order to win freedom for their children.

Clear concepts of government and the lessons of history will do much to help us preserve fundamental rights. With the help of Central High School's excellent social science classes we can learn to do our part as citizens in the struggle against the "isms" which seek to rob us of dignity and the rights of liberty.

Yep! They Are Full Of Pep!

Headed by Cheerleader Joanne Mabb, Central's peppy yell squad played an all-important part. For these vivacious girls were responsible in sparking the spirit and enthusiasm displayed by the student body.

The skillful dance routines were created by the girls themselves but not without hours of practice, patience, and perseverance — the three P's that spell PEP in cheerleading at games and assemblies.

In addition to Central's sports events the cheerleaders performed in the Rodeo Parade, adding sparkle to an already exciting event. The girls also took part in cheerleader clinics in California, where they received some of the highest awards by learning and creating novel yells. Nor must Sponsor Margaret Moseley be overlooked for her part in directing the pepsters to an outstandingly successful cheer-year.

Pep Leaders Who Never Quit

Window dressing helps promote interest as every salesmanager well knows. An important part of Central's "window dressing" at student performances is the majorette activity. Pretty girls in clever costumes twirl batons, prance, pivot, and dance to the band's lilting airs. It puts the patrons in a happy mood.

The group has established routines and precision standards to be proud of. They are joined in crowd-pleasing action by the Pom-Pom Girls, the band's cheerleaders, and kindred pep-minded Centralites. Games are wonderful, but the hometown patrons have learned to expect the window dressing as their due!

Are you short of funds? Piggy bank empty? Need a Job? Youth Employment Service, celebrating its 10th year, lends a helping hand by finding jobs for students. Run by and for the youth, this organization filled 1,986 jobs for students last year. Assemblies are held at the high schools to present entertainment for Valley young people. Central High was host of one of the first YES assemblies this year.

Joyce Farquer, senior representative to the advisory board, and Carol Gold, junior representative, related the history of YES to the student body. "Pennies from Heaven" was the theme of a pantomime presented by Bev Heflin, Florence Howard and Carol Gold, Central High Juniors and Dolly Jordan, Camelback High. Phil Blende was master of ceremonies. YES holds D-J dances every Saturday night.

A Memorable Performance

Dance, drama, and music departments each year combined their efforts in the Christmas Assembly. A lavish assembly production, Central's second annual Beaux Arts program was given an extra performance in the evening for the public. Entitled The Nutcracker Suite, it featured over 200 talented students. Making its first public appearance, was the new Concert Orchestra under the baton of Mr. Bagwell. Vocal musicians, the Concert Choir, Madrigal Singers and Choraliers, were directed by Miss Hergt. Advanced Dancers, performing to Tchiakowsky's music, were directed by Mrs. Mitten. Drama personnel constructed the sets, arranged the staging, and provided pantomimes and narration for the program. They were guided by Mrs. Mary L. Beeghley and Mr. Donald Krishak.

As Peppy Music Was Needed

Music, maestro, PLEASE! There's nothing like a band to bring joy to the heart or tingles to the toes. And, like the good musicians they were, the band played on and on, earning top praise and fame in only their second year of operation. Directed by Mr. Harvey Zorn, who has built other Valley bands to outstanding form, the CHS organization was a mainstay of school enthusiasm all the year.

A welcome fixture at every sports event, in assemblies, and pep rallies, the band also did itself proud at several public concerts and music festivals. Their excellence did not come the easy way. Late practices after school, active participation in workshops, and just plain hard work were the elements leading to their success. Their sense of harmony, military marching, and tone balance were hailed as superior.

Central's Band Played On

Cheers aren't enough to show the team we're behind 'em. It takes a snappy band giving out with the school song and the rhythmic hand clapping and foot stamping to complete the pep picture. Our Swing Band did a super job, aiding with the musical cheers and accompaniment to the Pom-Pon Girls' performances. Another year of growth will place this group among the Valley's best.

Precision maneuvering, while tooting horns or beating drums, marked our Marching Band at public appearances. Judged by the public in terms of older schools and more experienced bands, the CHS music makers acquitted themselves very well. At the Band Shell Concert in April and the combined Spring Concert at the Gym, Director Harvey Zorn's musicians earned highest praise of all who heard them perform.

Music, the universal language, finds an appreciative following at Central High School. For a school only in its second year, CHS has made remarkable progress in this department. Fortunate is Central to secure the services of Mr. William Bagwell, for eight years with Minneapolis Symphony Orchestra and an experienced university and high school instructor.

Versatile Mr. Bagwell has organized a Dixiland Band that may soon handle the music at school dances and in assembly programs. Any student with talent and a desire to participate is warmly welcomed to the Music Department. There is only one catch—the enrollee must be faithful in attendance at practice sessions as well as consistent in his home practice.

SHARP! Darkroom magic produces interesting prints for The Centralian, agree Managing Editor Ron Hubert, Business Manager Dennis Josifek, and Editor Ron Lundeen. Science Department allowed space in dispensary for the much needed yearbook darkroom.

First of all, they engineered a change of name for the yearbook. . . from Cat Tracks to The Centralian. Then the Yearbook Productions class designed modern layouts, compared notes on themes, and made an idea search of outstanding annuals from other schools. "Reaching For The Stars" was runner up to "Thus We Grow"; the latter won because of the time element and the fact that "growth" would lose appeal after year 1959.

Publications groups, the newspaper staff, and interested Bobcats all contributed work on The Centralian. An appeal for more advertising went out to the student body with immediate responses from freshmen as well as upper classmen and faculty. Club groups tried new ideas for their yearbook pictures; volunteer scribes and photographers came from several directions. This was truly a student body annual. Everyone on the campus helped.

Their Efforts Created Echoes

After walking their feet down to the knees in search of ads, straining their brains to compose articles, typing their fingers to the bone and stopping clocks to meet deadlines, the newspaper staff proudly presented Central High with its first school newspaper, CENTRAL ECHOES.

"We believe that the newspaper is a school trust. All connected with it are responsible for retaining that confidence. . . . We believe that the journalism which succeeds best — and best deserves success — is tolerant but never careless; constructive, and always respectful of its readers." Following this policy, staffers headed by Barbara Peck and Mike Weiss, and advised by Mrs. Marjorie K. Mertens, created three papers filled with campus news, editorials, feature stories, columns, jokes and ads. The latter composed a large portion of the paper — $1,000 worth of advertising to left the financial burden.

A new tradition has been established at Central. Initiative, co-operation and tenacity have made it possible and even profitable!

Everybody has a favorite calling in this life, some philosophers believe; and sure enough, the favorite calling is K7DKU for members of Central's Electronics Club! Interested in everything scientific that's related to communications, the boys explore radio and television mysteries, build receivers and sending sets, repair and invent new devices under guidance of a real electronics expert, Sponsor Shehane.

Knights of Science are in tune with the times. Main requisite for membership is an interest in science. Exciting and often spectacular experiments highlighted this year's activities, with Pres Creve Maples as the spark. Good Citizenship Their Goal

Highlight of Key Club's year was the Charter Banquet held December 4 at HiwayHouse Here while delegates from the sponsoring Valley of the Sun Kiwanis Club and 30 parents watched, Central High's Key Club was presented its charter from Key Club International. The club is part of a world-wide organization sponsored by Kiwanis International. Local Kiwanians send two of their members to club meetings as advisers; two of the Central High boys attend Kiwanis meetings as delegates. Sponsors are Messrs. Elmer Felton and Ben Feiler.

Key Club made rapid progress in its first year, promoting and maintaining good school and community relationships while developing initiative and leadership. They initiated several projects: a Clean Campus Campaign, painting the trash cans, an effort to ease Central Avenue traffic by opening the Seventh Street gate, a fund raising project to finance better music facilities in the Cafeteria.

A Car Hop in March, numerous speakers and film showings, and a three-day convention in Prescott, including sports events, workshops, and social events kept the members busy. Membership is limited to 30 boys of 25 grade average, high merit standing, and good citizenship. Officers were Joe Abdai, president, Mike Weiss, vice president; Ron Lundeen, secretary-treasurer, and Bill Mahan, sergeant-at-arms. Class representatives were Gary Adler, senior, Bob Keilly, junior; Charles Burton, sophomore. Freshmen are not eligible for club

Young Scientists Seek Thrills

Being just bugs about bugs may set some fellows apart from the common herd, but in these days of scientific research, who's to say who's an odd ball? Steeped in genuine curiosity of and interest in Nature's secrets are members of the Entomology Club, sponsored by Mrs. Ann Johnson. Members sought far and wide for specimens to mount; many a textbook was read. Everybody had fun — scientific, too!

What's pep? Maybe the word comes from "pepper"; but our Pep Club is nothing to sneeze at! They brought to games all the hot sauciness needed to season up the tamest dish. The all-girl rooster group, sponsored by Mr. Max Powell, sparked athletic events, conducted campus sales of team-boosting emblems, and in general had a high ol' time of it this 1958-59 year. Unhand Me, Or I'll Screeeam!

Main aim of the Footlighters is to promote drama in the campus. The club was started in Centra's first year. Though the dramatics facilities are extremely limited, the club has sponsored skits, interpretive readings, and plays. The first few meetings were held to acquaint members with drama students and to make future plans. As Centra progresses, so do the school's enterprising Footlighters.

For lack of a standard stage, the dramatics students had a complete puppet show and conducted performances to the delight of many patrons. Interested in all fields of expression, the Footlighters also prepared for speech contests, nomination speeches during election campaigns, and advertising contacts for the yearbook. Centra is growing rapidly, and the young dramatists at CHS intend to keep going.

Le Cercle Français sponsors numerous activities each year. Outstanding was a half-hour program of French music broadcast over Radio Station KELE. Then there was the Annual Grande Fete. At this gala affair new members with at least a semester of French were inducted.

Speaking French and learning about France and its people are a strong part of Le Cercle's activities. A current membership of 68 indicates the club's popularity and brings expressions of "C'est bon!" from the officers. Club officers are elected twice yearly, and no officer can succeed himself in the same office. TROPHIES to spare! Here are Charlene Brodsky, David Herstam, and Dan Reynolds.

Let's Bowl!

Barely two years old, Central's Bowling Club has achieved many goals. This year there were over 80 members—with more joiners lined up calling for admission. Top scorers were Charlene Brodsky and Dave Herstam. Another bowler, President Dan Reynolds, won first place in the Phoenix Christmas Tournament.

Next year the bowlers hope to form a girls' league and a boys' league. Also they would like to start a Scratch League or Ten Pin League for outstanding keglers. It's a great sport in which weight and height fail to figure as much as practiced co-ordination.

Athletes With Enterprises . . .

They made sport's headlines — and money! Under the direction of President Steve Silver, Jack Eaton, and Earl Harry, this year's Lettermen's club was the most active and profit-making group on campus.

Purpose of the club, which works in accordance with Central High coaches, is to promote school athletics, and create scholastic harmony. The results are highly satisfactory.

The Lettermen were real money-makers as shown by the enterprises they conducted: hat sales, candy sales, victory dances, football programs, and basketball concessions. A flag to be flown after every Central victory was presented to the school in April. Small wonder this is a popular club with the coeds. What other group can boast so many handsome athletes with such a wholesome, heavy cash reserve!

Service . . . with a smile you can trust! That's the avowed objective of Centralian Service Club. Newly organized, the group formed its nucleus from boys who rated highly in leadership qualities. One project was to form a welcoming committee for opposing teams and their coaches. Also, they added spirit and spunk to many of the school's intramural activities. Co-sponsors were Messrs. Ball and Pitts.

Standing for all that is good in the YMCA program, Solo-Deo Tri-Hi-Y had an active year. Charity projects were not lacking, neither were the fun sessions such as picnics, parties, jam sessions. The girls studied principles of good citizenship and put these ideas into practice. Regular meetings were often sparked by visiting speakers or specialty experts, such as Mr. Duran, who gave the girls hair-dressing tips.

They Believe In Brotherhood

Founded in 1957-58 was a club with the purpose of promoting better understanding between students of different religious backgrounds and races. It came to be known as the Central High School Fellowship Club. Under skillful guidance of Advisers Sordahl and Hackett, the club is achieving its ambitious purpose. Membership is large and growing larger. Several other high schools in the Valley are forming Fellowship Clubs patterned after that at CHS.

Fellowship Club's outstanding project this year was the Brotherhood Assembly. This consisted of an Anytown Panel discussion and an address on the need for fellowship by The Reverend Mr. Harlens. Other projects included discussions by Rabbi Plotkin, Messrs. Smelser, Frank, and others well informed on religious history and trends. Officers included Phil Blende, Ruth Fisher, Judy Lando, Barbara Isenberg, Mike Weiss, Marilyn Mitchell, Carol Krissman, and Dave Burns.

Cats Tumble Flagstaff, Rincon

Central upset Flagstaff's eggbasket with a 14-7 thriller. Wynn scored the first Bobcat TD from 5 yards out, and Rudd added a 37-yard dash to break the tie and win the game.

Catalina and Central mixed it up for three quarters before the Trojans broke loose for a wild 25-0 finale. Central bounded back 42-7 the next week against Tucson's Rincon, with Espy, Montoya, and Wynn scoring. But the cold water fell seven days later at Tempe, 19-12, when Tempe's one-man gang, Robb Royse, ran three TDs against the Phoenicians.

FALCONS SCORE — Carl Hayden held over a TD despite the stiff resistance of Edw. Marks (far left), Marks

Scottsdale Tie A 'Victory'

Then came the glad tidings for the local hopefuls. Against favored (18-0) Scottsdale the underdogs from Central tied up the mighty Beavers 6-6 for a tremendous moral victory. Heller scored on a 10-yard sprint. Washington's Rams went down 26-13, with Espy (2) and Rudd scoring. After Scottsdale, Carl Hayden didn't seem so tough, but a stunning 13-7 upset, plus a too-late Bobcat surge set Central High School in the unhappy losers box.

West's Birds spurred the Bobcats 26-13. Central scored with 1:15 remaining, on an Espy romp, Cook snagged a pass and sailed into Thunderbird roosting grounds. In the season's windup, Camelback harnessed the Bobcats 24-6. Wynn scored lone Central TD.

Football's future at Central looked bright when 96 freshmen reported Sept. 8 for practice. After a week's hard play the squad was trimmed to 75 boys, for lack of enough football suits to go around. Freshmen 125 pounds and under were sent to the Peewee Squad which left 40 boys for regular Frosh play.

Season's record was 2-6-1. The Bobkittens scored 89 points to opponents' 118. Coaches Padelford and Garcia felt the greenlings would form a strong nucleus for the '59 JV squad.

Pee Wee Kittens Fought Hard

Boasting a dandy 5-4-1 season, Central High's JVs raised hopes for a strong varsity squad in '59. They topped North High, Phoenix Christian, Tempe, Washington, and Camelback. Their tie was with West High and their losses were against Glendale, Mesa, Scottsdale, and Carl Hayden. Coaches Bob Ruman and Easton had high praise for their athletes.

Ambitious indeed was Central High's Pee Wee grid schedule, but their record was somewhat short of sensational: 1-1-6. The players weighed less than 25 pounds each, or just a wet. But the kids met all comers without flinching. Of the eight games, two were against first-string freshman teams and three were against freshman B-teams. Four started weight. Three games were decided by one TD or one conversion point. Outstanding players, according to Coaches Tietz and Hoeffel, were Gordon Rakow, Guy Holmes, Richard Ann, Chuck Orwig, Bill Neuman, Al Ling, Eugene Henning, Jim Wilson, Bill Price, and Don Romley.

We'd Hoop Hopes

Coach Padelford's boys made it to the AA tourney in Tucson where Mesa tipped them 55-46. Early in the season Scottsdale slapped the Bobcats 51-36; Don Coyote bit them 53-35. But Washington obliged as a victim, 53-49 and Peoria, 47-34. Big West squeaked by 48-44 and North's Mustangs made it 57-46. But a major triumph was due: Camelback collapsed to Bobcat fury 77-57. Indian School faltered, 62-55, in a tilt featuring many Indian School half-court bulleyes.

Growing pains still beset young Central on its Class AA debut. But our 8-10 record was better than last year's dismal

Manor Sets High Score Record

Flagstaff's Eagles stopped the Bobcat's winning ways, 51-43, but Washington's Rams again helped bolster CHS ego, 51-46. Those Thunderbirds did it to us again, 39-34 in a tight defense tilt, then Tempe tried its luck, failing 48-42.

Chief rival Carl Hayden found Central too good, falling 69-59. Then came Camelback's Spartans, vengeance-bound. They swamped the host Centralites 70-52, after playing an even first half. But revenge can be sweet for the Bobcats, too. They smothered Flag's Eagles 64-54. Sunnyslope mixed luck and a good floor game for a shaky 66-65 win. Then Central fell apart in its final AA game, 65-28 for North High.

Highlighting Central's AA season was high scoring Dave Manor's selection on the All-City second team. He won All State Honorable Mention and set a new Bobcat scoring record of 33 points against Camelback. Leading rebounder Bill Lennartz won All-City Honorable Mention the second straight year.

Lennartz, Steve Bassett, Jerry Harvey, Jack Hay, Pat Kubler are graduating but Coach Padelford has high hopes for a team built around Manor, Dickson, Bob Smelick, and other promising Bobcat speedsters.

JV Squad Boasts 12-4 Season

Guided by Coach Widtsoe Shumway, who had to leave at the end of the first semester, and Coach Joe Garcia, Central's JV basketball squad improved last year's 4-10 record one hundred per cent, as it recorded a very impressive 12-4 record in its initial AA season.

The JVs, who lost their three top players, John Lewis, Howard Rudd, and Bob Smith to the Varsity the latter part of the season, were defeated only by West, Camelback, Flagstaff, and North. They'll vie for the Varsity in '60.

Co-Ordination, Balance Count

Main object in gymnastics is learning of fundamental co-ordination, control and balance, not just the building of muscles. This year has initiated Central's first gymnastics team. Still in a development stage, the team did well in meets, and prospects for the coming year indicate championship quality team.

"Although many people think gymnastics is mostly tumbling, we are to educate them," declares Coach Amster. He further explains that Central's team consists not only of tumblers, but also of excellent performers in the pommel horse, side horse, still rings, trampoline, rope climb, and numerous free exercises.

Grab That Bat! Play Ball!

Bobcat baseballers had a hot-and-cold season on the Class AA diamonds, but they managed to earn fourth place in AA for their first year's venture into the top league. Reaching their peak at the West High game, they shut out the Thunderbirds 3-0. The last game of the season also ended on a promising note when Central walloped Tempe 10-1 in a game that was out of reach in the fifth frame, when the rampaging Bobcats capitalized for 6 runs

Led by Home Run King Bill Lennartz and Pitchers Dave Manor, Jack Hay, and Dave Schumacher, Coach Bob Ruman's boys made a favorable impression on AA competition. Backing up the hurlers was a well rounded outfield and Al Moutran, catcher; Joe Geiger, first base; Mel Dunn, second; Gerry Rose at short, and Clark Espy at the hot corner. Next year the entire team, except for Lennartz and Hay, will return for another go at the title

JV, Frosh Teams Show Talent

At press time, Central High's JV baseball team had compiled a very fine record of 9 wins and only 4 losses. They tied one game. Under direction of Coach Al Hoeffel, the boys learned many tricks of the trade; but constant practice and a fine spirit of competition counted most. That quality lasts a lifetime.

Many of the JV squadmen will qualify for places on the 1960 Bobcat Varsity, the coach declared. Frosh stars are in the running, too.

With a season record of 8-7, the Frosh baseball team made rapid strides toward championship caliber. One hope for next season is to have two freshman baseball teams as well as a stepped-up schedule of games. And the more Bobcats participating, the better the sport.

According to Coach Garcia, these frosh were outstanding: Bentle, Wise, Aaron, Prato, Foley, Jorgensen, Walker, Inman, Vaughn, and Stitt. Also, Palma, Runge, Mickel, and Gilbert.

Enthusiasm Was Not Lacking

Highlight was the first Central High Relays with seven schools. West took first with 27 but Central's 11½, right behind Camelback's 15, edged Washington and Sunnyslope. Central later put down Carl Hayden 82-31, winning all but two of 13 events. Dickson set a school mark in the high jump at 6 feet; Borris ran a 4:54 mile; Mortensen vaulted 11'6"

Cross-Country Lads Hopeful

Central's dual meet with Washington was a thriller decided by the final event, 57½ and 59½ for the Bobcats. Casa Grande's Class A champs edges Central 49-64 in a dual. Although the Bobcats took 7 firsts of 13, depth was lacking. Sunnyslope tumbled to Central in a dual featuring a Wold-Montoya tie in low hurdles. Kubler, Brown, Stringer also starred.

Cross Country track enlivened the sports scene last fall but time was needed to recruit more than a varsity squad. Coach Thompson expects three squads by next fall to bolster the Central victory string that included three wins in '58—two against South Mountain and one against Tempe. Captain-elect Ron Carter predicts a city championship squad next fall.

Champs On Turf And Court

Like tennis, let's let the straight of an expert be your teacher. The tennis support staff, Central's super racqueteteers, under guidance of Coach Chris Carnahan. By May 6, totals favored Central 20-4 in interschool matches, say

Only West High, Judson and Tucson offered threats to what finally was Central's best season. Moreover, the entire team returns next year! Reserves in the JV and Frosh teams look good as well. The ladder stood: Meng, Berkenkamp, Pace, Parker, Eberhard. JVs earning letters this season were David Blende, Charles Byerley, Harold Dellinger, Ray Hunter, David Humphrey, and Tom Poe.

Varsity golf was tops, with a 34-3 score at press time. Coach Harvey Zorn's greensward boys were well on their way for state honors, encouraged by such sub-par play as George Boutel's 69s and 63s. Crowding Boutel were Jim Gafke, Charles Burton, and Nason Frank. A 16-3 win over Camelback and smothering Brophy and Agua Fria High ended regular play.

No Groans From The Matmen

Central's wrestling team under the guidance of Coaches Marich and Eaton performed creditably. Winning only two out of eleven meets, Central still made a sufficient come back to place third in the district meet finals at Phoenix Indian School. Six qualified in the state meet at Yuma. Larry Marks, Central's 112 pounder, placed second in the state. The other finalists: Mike Gotch, Maurie Swanberg, Ron Carter, Dan Reynolds, Don Silver Record's of Central's top six for this season were superior. Marks lost 7, won 10, placed second in both district and state meets, pinned one opponent this season. Reynolds won 10, lost 5, was high varsity wrestler, pinned 6 opponents and was district champion. Gotch won 4, lost 6; Swanberg won 10, lost 6, was a district champion. Silver won 6, lost 6, tied 1, took second in the district; Carter won 6, lost 5, placed second in high school district No. 2.

Sportsmanship Their Purpose

Fair play, teamwork and good sportsman-ship are all qualities connected with the Girls' Athletic Association. Promoting social develop-ment through team play, physical well-being through the use of the body in sports, and preparing for possible leisure time activities are all a part of this wide-awake organization.

Humorously compared to "big, bouncing black bugs," while seen practicing in their leotards were 31 girls in Mrs. Harriet Mitten's Advanced Dance class. Said Mrs. Mitten, "This dance experience gives girls a chance to work together." It is also an aid in obtaining poise, grace, and a pleasing degree of co-ordination.

TRIMWORK! Girls from physical education classes demonstrate their co-ordination and grace in calisthenics routine. Director here is Miss Branigan. Improved posture, well-toned muscles, and agility are some of the rewards handed the students in such class activities. Arizonans have almost year-round to enjoy outdoor play

Learning Good Health Habits

The Girls' Athletic Association has done much to promote the playing of sports for girls at Central. They participate in a number of play days and other projects during the year. GAA sponsored the Rodeo Dance and the Beard Growing Contest this year. Also the girls went all out for volleyball and softball.

Under the leadership of Miss Joyce Sanders and Mary Louise Branigan they sponsored several money raising projects and have plans to attend the Awards event in the spring and the city-wide volleyball playday next year. Healthy competition and wholesome habits are a pleasing combo to the GAA members.

Working together in Advanced Dance gives Mrs. Mitten's students a chance to express their creative ability through movement. The girls choreograph their own dances, select their own music, and make their own costumes for the programs they present each year.

Among the group's projects are the Annual Beaux Arts Christmas Program and the Spring Dance Concert called "Music and Motion". These two programs are done with music and drama groups.

During the year many of the girls from this class danced at assemblies, PTA programs and at social events outside of school. Money making projects were undertaken to raise cash for costumes and other necessary equipment to make the dance department a success. For future dance groups a costume department has been started by the girls from this year's class. It's a worthy project.

Golf, Archery Teams Excel

Girls of the archery and golf teams learn to cooperate as members of a team and yet remain as individuals. Both teams boast an impressive progress record for the past year.

In the Junior Columbia Tournament, conducted by mail, the girls have the second highest U.S. scores for high school archers class.

In the State Invitational Archery meet Central High coeds captured five out of the possible eight places in the contest.

Making astounding progress in only their second year, the Girls Golf team was victorious over all competitors in inter-school meets with one exception. For the second year they captured the trophy at the Tempe Invitational Tournament. Judy Loftfield, winning the A flight, became the State High School amateur champion. Freddie Kalina took the top title in the B flight competition.

This summer Judy and Carol Smith will attend the National Junior Golf Tournament in Maryland and other national tournaments. Both teams attribute their success to practice and the proficient instruction of Miss Mary Louise Branigan.

Outstanding Scholars, Citizens

Ever higher is the aim of National Honor Society members in their search for knowledge. NHS membership went to the top 15 per cent of the classes of '59 and '60. One's scholastic standing was important; but other qualities of good citizenship were considered in filling the roster.

To qualify for National Honor Society membership, a student must average grades of 1.75 or better; he must be of outstanding character, possess qualities of leadership and have performed some service to his school. Central High School is justly proud of these students. Sponsors of NHS include Mrs. Betty McCubbins, Mrs. Hazel Redenbach, and Messrs. Don Ellis, Kenneth Ridenour, and Marvin Sordahl.

HEADING the scholastic roll for Central seniors are Salutatior an Roberta Frazin and Co-Vice President Jim Galt. Also pictured are Bob Baum, Bill Tye, and Committee Chairman J m Galke.

They're First To Say Goodbye

Traditions are born of many years' customs but Central High hatched a nestful in 1959. Our seniors leave behind them a great many firsts. They missed a few goals, but their "hits" will long be remembered and honored.

There were these "firsts": Senior Play Day, Junior-Senior Prom, Graduation and a memorable first party to follow. There were a few sad "lasts" as well, where emotional goodbyes lingered on the brink of a new future.

THAT'S WHISKERS? Campus Traditions Committee got into the spirit of Rodeo Week by encouraging each other to go Wild West. Here Creve Maples suffers the jibes.

of fellow committeemen who made sport of his best effort. Also pictured are Bob Baum, Bill Tye, Roberta Frazin, Laurie Ball, and Committee Chairman J m Galke.

Busy Hours Are Most Fleeting

Besides the fun of being together, Tri-Hi-Y Club members sparked their year's activity with a number of interesting projects. For example they introduced a bill at the Junior Legislature in the state capitol regarding the stiffening of driver-license test requirements. Money-raising schemes took up much of their time. Two such were donut hole sales and the marketing of Christmas wrappings. Guest speakers and interesting discussions highlighted meetings.

There you sit with 13 clubs in your hand and your partner bids seven no-trump! What to do? Such a problem is remote, but the Bridge Club, which meets Wednesdays, would have an answer — even if it were, "Shoot her dead!" The finer points of contract bridge fascinate many teeners. They'll take their interest in and knowledge of bridge into their later lives with a wealth of enjoyment as their reward. Some may even become professional!
